

A program for family, friends and carers in NSW

Are you supporting someone experiencing suicidal distress or following a suicide attempt? If so, the Minds Together program can help.

Minds Together is a free, self-paced online program designed to enhance the skills and knowledge of family, friends and carers in NSW.

What you'll gain:

- Learn new strategies for supporting someone
- Look after your own mental health and wellbeing while caring for others
- Videos, expert podcasts and interactive activities
- Engage with others who provide support and care.

Access Minds Together

[mindstogether.org.au/
supporting-someone-in-nsw](https://mindstogether.org.au/supporting-someone-in-nsw)

A program for family, friends and carers in NSW

Are you supporting someone experiencing suicidal distress or following a suicide attempt? If so, the Minds Together program can help.

Minds Together is a free, self-paced online program designed to enhance the skills and knowledge of family, friends and carers in NSW.

What you'll gain:

- Learn new strategies for supporting someone
- Look after your own mental health and wellbeing while caring for others
- Videos, expert podcasts and interactive activities
- Engage with others who provide support and care.

Access Minds Together

[mindstogether.org.au/
supporting-someone-in-nsw](http://mindstogether.org.au/supporting-someone-in-nsw)